

PADI Wreck Diver Specialist

How do I dive a wreck? Can I use a compass? If I can't, how do I navigate? What if I want to look inside the wreck? What do I do if something goes wrong? All these questions and more will be answered on the wreck diver course. We'll look at the planning, organisation and procedures for wreck diving as well as the techniques and equipment used. You'll learn about potential problems and hazards of wreck diving and what procedures to take in the event of an emergency. Most of the skills learnt will be through practical experience on four open water boat dives, though some time will be spent in the classroom.
